

LET'S TALK ABOUT RACE

VIRTUAL BOOK DISCUSSION SERIES

First Tuesdays at 6:30 pm via Zoom

September 1: So You Want to Talk About Race by Ijeoma Oluo

October 6: Parable of the Sower by Octavia E. Butler

November 3: Citizen: An American Lyric by Claudia Rankine

Let's Talk About Race will explore race and the legacy of racial injustice in America. We'll foster connections and conversations about the work we can do individually and as a community. Come prepared to question what you know about racism and consider new ideas with an open mind.

Facilitator Diane Raptosh is a writer and educator and co-directs the program in Criminal Justice/Prison Studies at College of Idaho. The author of six books of poems, she served as the Boise Poet Laureate as well as the Idaho Writer-in-Residence.

Call to register. Six free copies of the book will be available first come first serve. You'll receive a Zoom link by email on the day of the discussion. Ages 16+.

Victor: 56 N. Main, 787-2201, victor@votlib.org
Driggs: 79 N. Main, 354-5522, driggs@votlib.org www.valleyofthetonslibrary.org

